If you like automatic payments, consider Penn State Federal's Bill Pay service, it's free with a Freedom Checking account.*

3. Close your old account

Once you're sure your old account is inactive, it's time to close your old account. The following tips will ensure your switch goes smoothly.

- Be positive all of your checks have cleared
- Have the balance from your old account sent to you
- Shred your old checks, ATM/Debit cards, and deposit slips

Important information

Please allow enough time for your switch to take place before closing your account. To avoid any penalties or fees from your previous financial institution, it's a good idea to maintain a balance to cover all outstanding transactions. Penn State Federal is not responsible for overdraft charges incurred for insufficient funds.

Some companies require the use of their forms to initiate the switching of accounts. In order to help facilitate this change, we may ask you to provide your current financial information, including a previous financial statement and any forms from your employer or party originating the deposit or withdrawal.

In accordance with the Patriot Act, when you open an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth, and other information that allows us to identify you. We may also ask to see your driver's license or other identifying documents.

Thank you for joining Penn State Federal! Be sure to take advantage of all of our services. As a member, you now have free identity theft protection and may take advantage of all the benefits of membership.
